

Owl Expands from the Sea with P&C Product Offering

Vancouver, BC: Today, Owl Underwriting Inc, a wholesale insurance MGA specializing in Marine based risks announced that they have officially opened the doors on a new division of the company: Owl P&C. The new division will serve the general property and casualty insurance markets both in Canada and the USA using both domestic and foreign insurance binders and agreements.

On the official launch of the division, Owl President Tony Davis said, "It's never easy bringing a new product to market, let alone a whole new division of a company. We at Owl strive to provide the best products at competitive prices and are always looking to deliver the fastest distribution to our clients. We feel the P&C product will continue this trend in online delivery in a way the insurance market has not yet seen." Of the company's online approach he continued: "Thus far Owl has focused on extremely niche products with our Marine and Dive offerings. P&C is a large and exciting step for the company and we weren't willing to step into the space until we felt we could adequately disrupt the market. Leveraging existing IT relationships with NowSolutions, who provided much of the online infrastructure for our dive offering, has helped us create a product we wouldn't have thought entirely possible a few years ago."

The team at P&C will be head manned by both Samera McGourty and Ryan Meyer who have also done work at Owl on the First Dive product. "Both Samera and I come from P&C backgrounds with an international scope," said Ryan, Senior Underwriter and Partner. "We're looking forward to seeing the continued success of our dive offering while bolstering our market share with our growing P&C portfolio. It's going to be an exciting year at Owl and we're excited to work with our current broker force in Canada, the US and abroad as well as new partners looking to access our P&C products."
